DOG WITH TUMORS

The 9 yr old dog "Molly" was diagnosed with tumors by the local vet. This has caused ongoing health problems over the years. Costing in vet bills between $3,000 to $4,000 in the last 12 months with little results. After trying a tube of 100% Natural - nontoxic gel twice a day, for less than a $100.

The first growth disappeared after less than 14 days! The second one is still reducing! The owners of Molly are ecstatic "we could never rub her stomach as it was too painful for her, now she loves it! Molly dog had a dramatic change in only two days after starting on the jell, so the decision to put Molly to sleep because of the ongoing pain & growths was canceled. The owners were given the gel on the 28 May and the second picture is 29 June!! Long live Molly dog!

OLDER DOG

Just another update on Ruby The Red Heeler she has been on a dose redox supplement 60 Mls twice a day for about 6 months and at the age of 18 her health and mobility was going downhill fast, about 6 months ago she was taking about 10 minutes to walk 50 metres also she had a snot problem which took almost 24 hour attention.

She walked with a bad limp on her right front leg and was told by vets and animal chiropractors there would be no hope of recovery.

Currently she is walking the same distance at the same time that I take to walk it and she has virtually no limp at all!!.. because she is a long haired dog and she has some arthritic changes in her spine I have parted the fur on her lower back where

I can feel the swelling and have sprayed the liquid molecules on her spine every day for the past few months.

This has made a huge difference to the movement in her back legs and she is now wanting to walk faster then her neurology will let her. Thank You so much from Ruby. This is such an incredible product if it can do this for an 18-year-old dog what can it do for you!!

INJURED BABY BIRD

Even baby birds who accidentally fly into windows (and then experience the inside of a dog's mouth - Mari) know that they like these amazing redox signaling molecules and the power of Infinite Love & Gratitude. It's nature and it's natural.

I saw blood in her mouth and as I sprayed her, she clearly continued to open her mouth for more. Yes, also it's so perfectly safe and beneficial for any eyes - it's a great way to get it into her system.

She also brought me a beautiful spiritual message, thanked me heart-to-heart, and then eventually flew off. Infinite Love & Gratitude

DOG WITH EYE GROWTHS

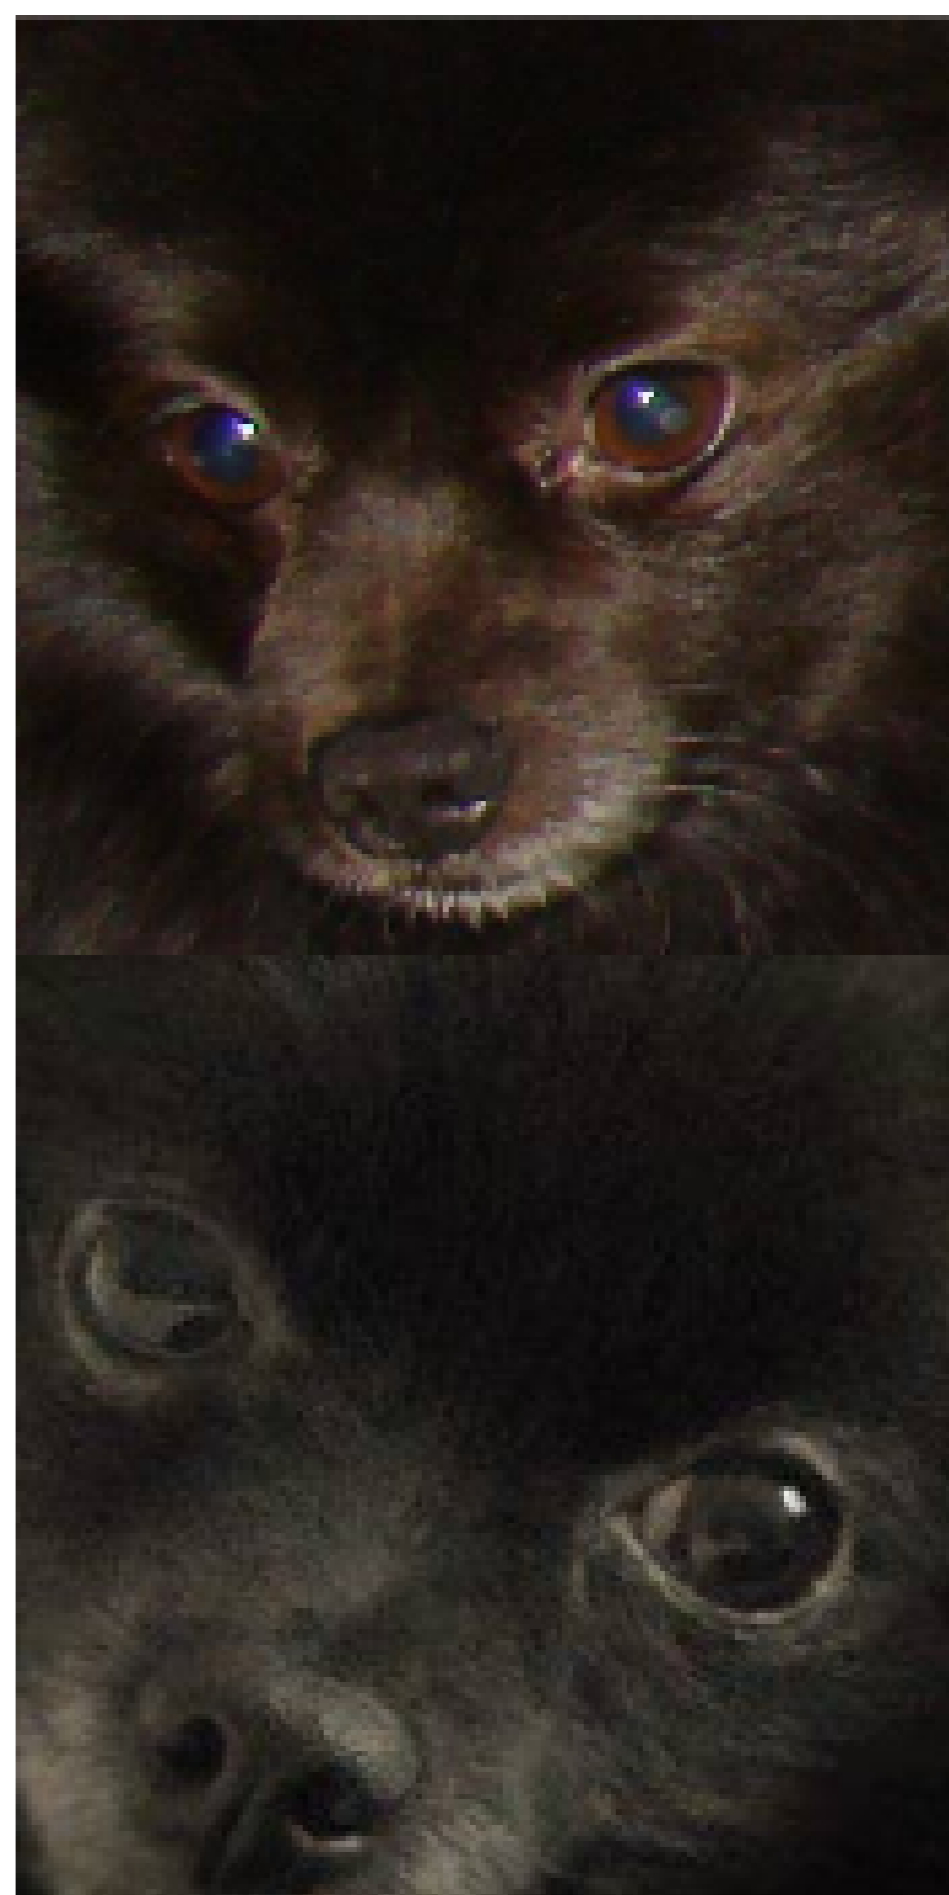

About 18 months ago, we noticed that our 3 yr old male Pomeranian, had growths on both of his eyes. They were the same type of common growths that humans and most mammals can get and are usually associated with old age. The one on the right eye was about the size of a large pencil lead. On his left eye, it was about 1/2 the size of a pencil eraser.

Although they weren't really large enough to inhibit his vision, we knew that these can grow quickly and be so young, the possibility of him going blind by old age was frightening. My husband decided he would start to spray the Pom's eyes twice a day, with redox supplement.

Over time, not only did the growths NOT get bigger, they started to shrink in size and become more opaque. Even though he was not being completely consistent with the spraying, the other day we noticed that the larger spot is now GONE and the smaller is so faint, you can barely see it.

Another redox supplement win! :) I don't even want to know what this type of surgery costs in dogs, but I know what a bottle of redox supplement costs!

DOG ATE CHOCOLATES

My sweet little Bernie Bear ate an unknown amount of semi-sweet chocolate chips. He began projectile vomiting Sunday morning and within 1-2 hours of that, he became very lethargic, had trouble breathing and was shaking all over with muscle spasms.

Immediately I began giving him redox supplement, and we headed for the pet ER. I had my son keep spraying his mouth with it on the ride.

I walked in with a very lifeless/ shaky/ sick puppy- I prayed for the best. I prayed the redox supplement would work its magic- it's never failed me before. They rushed him off, and my only literal hope of him surviving was the redox supplement I'd given him.

I sat for two hours in the waiting room knowing nothing. Is no news good news right?

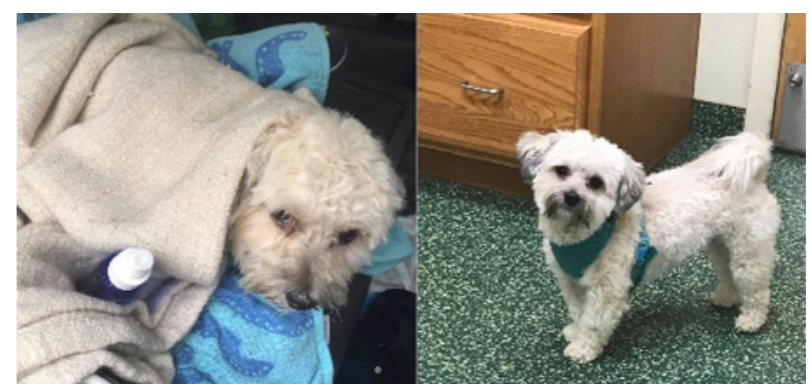

Finally we got the news he was stable- finally, I got to see him- he was happy and acting totally like himself! The vet knew all about redox supplement and was very happy to see I use it!

We debated on taking him home- or having him stay overnight to be monitored- just in case because chocolate is slow moving.

We left him for 24 hours- he was fine! Supposedly had "slightly elevated" blood pressure- DUH he doesn't want to be there! They gave him IV fluids and activated charcoal.

They wanted to keep him an additional night to continue "monitoring" but I felt like all he needed now was to be home where he's loved, and where I can give him redox supplement regularly. Tonight I checked him out and brought him home and I'm treating with redox supplement. He's doing great. Eating- going to the bathroom- and now he's snuggled up and snoozing. Don't forget about redox supplement for your furry friends- Animals love it!

And I believe, and know in my heart - it worked its magic on my puppy.

HORSE WOUND

Veterinarian decided this wound was too severe to be repaired, but the owner felt differently and decided to give redox supplement a chance to save this horse's life. Redox supplement was applied in a spray bottle frequently throughout the day, in the beginning, every hour or so.

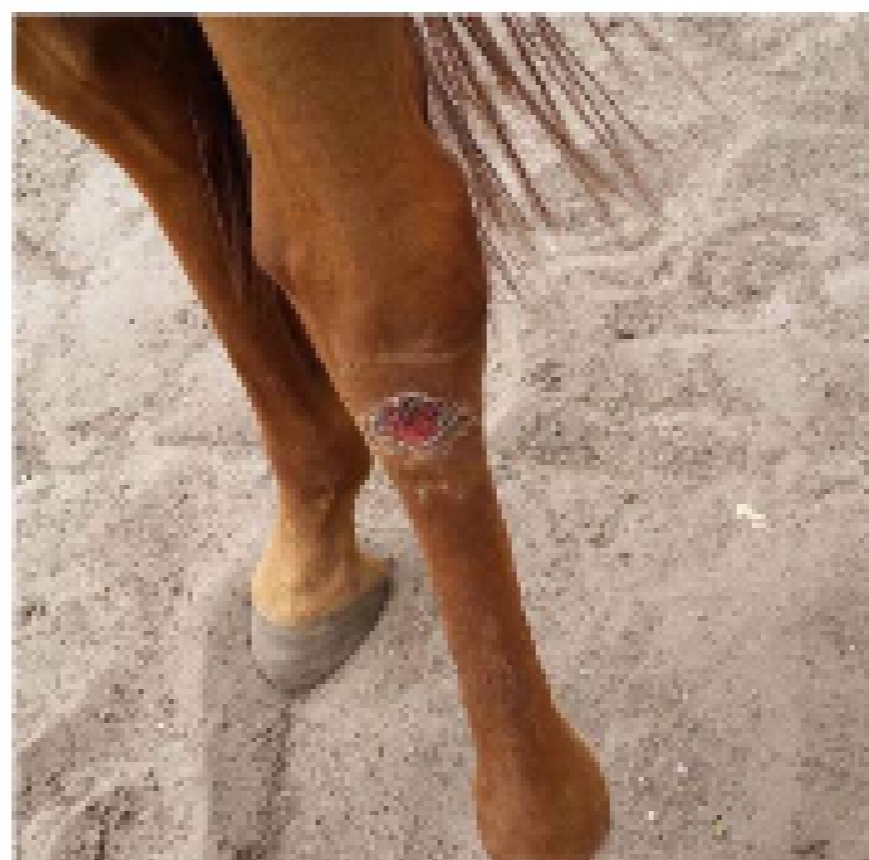

The wound healed completely and now you can barely see any evidence this horse was injured. Amazing!

HORSE WOUND

Thanks to redox gel and redox supplement this wound that happened on October 23 and was advised up to 4 months before healed enough to work. The horse was back in work by mid-December which was about 6 weeks and the last photo is amazing and notice no swelling/scar tissue.

INJURED BIRD

Just a small testimony for my nature lovers. This little bird hit my window and was limping and bowing its little head as if breathing its last. I held it and said a prayer, then as it opened its mouth, I sprayed redox supplement in it and on its leg. Took it out and sat it on my bird feeder. It started fluttering for a few seconds and flew into a tree.

Yes, I did kiss it and talked to it before letting it go. One of God's creatures. Thank God for redox.

CAT WITH ROGUE CELLS

A little over a year ago I was sitting at my mom's house and noticed her 15-year-old cat, Duke had lumps on his neck. He also had a frozen neck to one side as well and a very small pupil. Concerned, she took him to the vet to get some cells aspirated through a syringe so they could be examined under the microscope for further analysis. It was determined that these were bad cells and the vet gave her options, including seeing a specialist.

As you know, seeing a specialist is very expensive. My mom started rubbing redox gel on his neck 2-3x daily and he was willingly drinking redox supplement from his bowl. Within a few days, Duke's neck was straight again and he was acting like a kitten, jumping on top of the fridge and drinking water out of the sink among other things. He was completely rejuvenated and full of life.

GUINEA PIG'S RIGHT EYE

This is a photo of our pet guinea pig's right eye on 10 March - whole eye bright blue & eye not moving/blinking, even when Asea sprayed on it. Only 17 days later, the photo shows the eye color back to brown with white around the edge (like another eye). And her eyeball now moving/blinking normally.

I wasn't really sure what to expect, or even if it was reasonable to hope for a change, but I thought I would give the Asea spray a go and see what happened. I started spraying her eye twice a day. After about 10 days, the eye looked the same and nothing seemed to be happening and I thought I was probably being a bit optimistic and maybe wasting my time.

So I didn't spray the eye as often, maybe only once a day. I was really surprised to discover on 27 March, the eye color was brown again and the eye was moving normally.

I learned couple of things from this, it is worth giving something a go, even if it might seem to be a 'long shot' and that it is worth persevering, even if you can't notice anything yet. I almost gave up when nothing seemed to be happening when I was only a week away from seeing the change.

CAT WITH GLAND ISSUES

Twelve months ago, my friend called me about her cat that was very listless and had difficulty keeping food down. The vet had found an issue with the cat's mammary glands and wanted to do some very aggressive medical interventions. The cat was about 12 years old and my friend did not want to put the cat through this treatment and was looking for alternative holistic treatments.

I recommended the redox supplement. What was fascinating to both of us, was that she started with a little syringe and the cat took it right away. She started to look forward to taking it and very soon my friend was able to put it in a bowl and the cat would jump up on the counter to wait for it.

As she drank the redox supplement and it started to work in her body, her energy started to change - she started to eat better, her energy was much better and she started to play. Seven months later my friend reported the cat was doing great.

She looks fantastic, is feeling really good; she likes to race around the house at midnight and zipping up and down the stairs as fast as she can. Now a year later, the cat is still doing fabulously well.

SICK DOG

A friend contacted me to see if redox would help her mother-in-law's 7-year-old dog (a terrier). Missy had been ill for 2 weeks and 2 vets really had no idea what the issue could be exactly but they both seemed to agree that the problem was with her brain and it wasn't good. She had been pretty much just laying around for 2 weeks as she couldn't walk a straight line, seemed very disoriented and listless.

They tried a couple of different medications but nothing really seemed to even ease any of her symptoms. I went to see them and we started giving Missy a 3ml syringe full of redox supplement every hour during the day as well as rubbing some redo gel in her ears.

Within 24 hours Missy was up and about. I stopped by 48 hours later and Missy greeted me at the door jumping up and down. Ran off and got her squeaky toy and wanted me to play with her. We have cut her back to 6ml twice a day now and redox gel twice a day also.

Not quite 2 weeks later, the vet is scratching his head as there doesn't seem to be anything wrong with her now. It's such a good result as this lady is 89 and Missy is her companion and would be lost without her.

OLDER DOG

Redox in a spray bottle is great for my black haired 12yr old dog, he's had his eyes sprayed with redox molecules several times a day since February 2016. Over the years he has grown distinct white hairs surrounding his eyes but the starkness has diminished since spraying redo, they are less white in color.

His mouth odor has reduced, I can only assume the antibacterial and antimicrobial properties of redox has assisted the reduction of germs & microorganisms that may have been causing his imbalanced smelly breath.

Spraying his mouth and tongue was a juggle so I place 20mls in a ceramic dish he willingly drinks this amount twice a day.

He had a partial tear of tissue causing dysfunction and prevention of hyperextension of his knee. The vet restricted certain activities that he loved, like tug of war, throwing & catching a ball and said he'd require surgery to repair the tear.

Since rubbing redox gel on his injured area for three months, his last veterinary checkup confirmed that his knee lacked swelling, he showed no signs of discomfort from the vet manipulating his joint. The vet expressed there appeared no irritation or inflammation.

Hercules is able to catch and fetch again without signs of discomfort, he has willingly returned to paddling in the icy creek waters, runs like he's much younger and jumps in and out of the car without effort again.

Uses of redox constantly profound me.

DOG WITH MOBILITY ISSUE

I did a little experiment. My dog wasn't able to jump on the couch anymore or run around my backyard. I took a little syringe and started giving it to the dog - about 1oz every day. After one week the dog was jumping up on the couch, running around in the backyard. My housemate asked 'What's going on with your dog? It looks like you got a different dog.'

My current dog had a little bald spot on his back about 3 inches big. I took him to two different doctors and they both said the same thing. But before I would put the prescribed medication on, I wanted to try the redox gel and also sprayed the redox supplement. All the hair grew back in about a month or so.

PUPPIES HEALTHY

I took my dogs to the beach for a walk this morning. Someone stopped me and commented, "I have never seen a dog with so much energy".

Well, Titus, our toy poodle (he is the one on the left) is a redox doggie. Now 4.5 he has more energy than most puppies. His puppy Mumma had the molecules all during her pregnancy and breastfeeding.

He still wants to drink them when I have my daily dose, but he has so much energy already I don't give them to him. He is healthier than both of his puppy parents, has never been to the vet (only for a microchip) & can run at flat-out pace for hours!

Other stats on Titus:

- + he weighs more than 50% more than is puppy Dad
- + he is significantly taller than his mother and father
- + he can run faster than pretty much every dog on the beach
- + he has never been sick a single time in his life

Wouldn't you want this start to life for all living beings?
